

BIG BATTLE MAY NOW BE ON NEAR LIAOYANG

Report Reaches Washington that a Fight Is Imminent, While Story from Newchwang Is that It Has Actually Begun—Mine Destroys Jap Cruiser.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—An intimation has reached the officials here to the effect that a great battle is imminent in the vicinity of Liao- yang, where the Russians are determined to make a stand.

The rumor cannot be traced to its source, but it may have been based on the report from Newchwang to-day that natives had declared there was heavy fighting in the direction of Liao- yang yesterday.

TOKIO, May 16, 3.30 P. M.—While in Kerr Bay the third-class cruiser Miyako, used as a despatch boat, was blown up by striking a submarine mine placed there by the Russians. The boat sank and eight of her crew were drowned.

The Miyako was lost while assisting in clearing the Russian mines from Kerr Bay, northeast of Talienwan Bay, on which Port Dalny is situated. Admiral Kataoka, Commander of the Third Squadron, returned there Sunday with a detachment of his squadron, protecting two flotillas of torpedo-boats which had been detailed to complete the removal of mines. Five mines were discovered and exploded, and the work was being suspended for the day when the Miyako struck an undiscovered mine, which exploded with tremendous force under her stern, on the port side, inflicting immense damage on the hull. The Miyako sank in twenty-two minutes. Two sailors were killed and twenty-two men were wounded. The rest of the crew were rescued.

JESSE LEWISOHN IN CONTEMPT

contempt. Finally it was straightened out by Judge McMahon deciding to commit the defendant to the Tombs.

Lewisohn was declared in contempt twice during the early part of the day. The first time was when he refused to answer questions put to him by the District-Attorney before Justice Wyatt in secret proceedings. Fearing that the contention of Lewisohn's lawyer, Alfred Lauterbach, who was debarred from this hearing, that it was illegal might find some support, the District-Attorney took a sudden switch.

He went before the Grand Jury with evidence against Richard Canfield, asked for an indictment, and called Lewisohn as a witness.

The following questions were put, after Lewisohn had given his name: "Where do you live?" "At No. 524 Fifth avenue." "Do you know Richard Canfield?" "I have known him for years." "Have you ever been in the house at No. 5 East Forty-fourth street?" "I have." "Did you ever see Richard Canfield there?" "I refuse to answer, by advice of counsel." "Did you ever gamble there?" "I refuse to answer." "Did you ever see any person or persons gambling there?" "I refuse to answer."

GRAND JURY ASKS FOR INSTRUCTIONS.

This wound up the Grand Jury proceedings in the Grand Jury room so far as Lewisohn was concerned and he was taken by County Detective Beardon to Part 1. of General Sessions, where Judge McMahon was sitting. There he was joined by his lawyer. In a few minutes the District-Attorney appeared and then came the Grand Jury.

Foreman Allen S. Aggar handed up a typewritten presentment setting forth what had happened in the Grand Jury room and asking for instructions. This was supplemented by a statement from the District-Attorney, who suggested that the Court should order the prisoner to answer the questions put to him.

Judge McMahon called Lewisohn to the bar and asked him if he was willing to answer the questions. Mr. Lauterbach explained that his client stood on his rights under the constitution of the State of New York and the Constitution of the United States and objected to the whole proceeding. He said that the defendant had no desire to make a general refusal to answer questions, but that he refused to answer questions that were not germane.

District-Attorney Jerome then said that he would ask Lewisohn the questions in open court if they would be answered. Mr. Lauterbach said they would not be answered.

"The defendant," said Judge McMahon, "is in contempt of court, and I order his imprisonment in Ludlow Street Jail until May 31."

Then proceedings were taken which kept Mr. Lewisohn from going to prison.

Don't be experimenting in Brooklyn; we've got policemen enough over here. You ought to be in Manhattan." Then he cautioned the women to "steer clear of these men."

"The action of Magistrate Tighe was very unjustified, for the least. It was an extraordinary conduct for a Magistrate to talk that way. The Magistrate's action will not change my methods in the least. My men will stay and continue the work I sent them to do."

Commissioner McAdoo was angry when he summoned the newspaper reporters to his office this evening. He said: "I had received several letters from Brooklyn citizens complaining of an increase of disorderly women in the streets of that borough. As I feel that I stand pledged to give the borough the very best conditions possible I detailed two plain-clothes men from my staff, Driften and Neumiller, to work in that borough. The opening of the new bridge opened a new field, and the pressure upon this class of law-breakers in Manhattan caused them to seek new fields."

"I received a report from my men to-day which I think the public should hear in order that they can see what I am trying to do and what I am up against."
